DEFEAT IN HOUSE SEEN BY LEADERS

Wets Oppose Federal Retention of Power and Lack of Provision for Action by Conventions.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(AP)—A solid band of opposition, ranging from Speaker Garner, of the house, to J. P. Jett, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, was raised today against the repeal resolution, newly laid before the senate with the approval of the judiciary committee.

Though the senators gave out assurances that the proposal would be taken up next Monday, thirteen anniversary of prohibition, Garner asserted it does not conform with the democratic platform, and other house leaders predicted it would not pass in its present form. Rainey, of Illinois, the house democratic floor chief, was among the first to denounce the resolution.

Shouse issued a lengthy statement in which he called for its defeat, asserting "it was infinitely better that the eighteenth amendment should stand."

Principal objection to the proposed amendment was that it provides for the federal government through congress to regulate or forbid the saloon in any state. Others asserted that the amendment would be a federal guarantee of protection to dry states against an inflow of liquor from wet territory and would provide for ratification by state legislatures rather than special conventions.

Doesn't Comply.

"It does not comply with the democratic platform," said Rainey, Garner agreed, Shouse asserted: "If ever a mandate came direct to the congress upon any subject it was the mandate of the recent election to submit a straightforward repeal resolution. Failure by congress to comply with this demand, which the people have the right and would prove a mockery of political integrity."

The resolution was approved by the judiciary committee this morning in record-breaking time, by a vote of 11 to 5.

Chairman Blaine, of the subcommittee which drafted the resolution, lost no time in announcing the committee's report to the senate, with an announcement that he would call it up at the "earliest opportunity."

Joining in the demand for prompt consideration of the resolution, many republican and democratic leaders in the senate predicted its approval at this session. Some expressed the belief that if the senate approved the resolution Garner would permit a vote on it in the house despite his present opposition.

The judiciary committee's action, marking another landmark in the long-standing prohibition controversy, came with dramatic abruptness.

Within an hour and a half after the committee gathered in executive session to consider the resolution, Senator King, Utah, democrat,

Calvin Coolidge Leaves Entire Estate to Widow
NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge's entire estate was left to his widow by the terms of a will drawn up while he was president, Ralph W. Hemmaway, his former law partner and now attorney for Mrs. Coolidge, announced today.

No estimate of the value of the estate was given by Hemmaway, but general estimate placed it at $500,000.

Hemmaway said John Coolidge, only living son of the Coolidges, was provided for in a trust fund at the time of his marriage.

John Coolidge and his wife, the former Florence Trumbull, daughter of former Governor Trumbull, of Connecticut, returned today to their home in New Haven.

REDS AND GUARDS BATTLE IN SPAIN

Communists Driven From Pedralba After Twelve
Die in Clash.

By REX SMITH.

MADRID, Jan. 9.—(AP)—A battle between communists and a large force of civil guards was under way tonight at the village of Bugarra, in the province of Valencia.

The communists had been driven out of the nearby town of Pedralba, where earlier in the day there was a sanguinary fight in which ten rebels and two members of the guard were killed.

All told, the extremist movement against the government, which has damaged a textile factory here, but no one was killed. Extremists later tried to burn the textile warehouse. One guard was seriously wounded while pursuing the would-be incendiaries.

Two bombs were found in a Madrid theater—the Teatro La Opera. At midnight a large bomb seriously damaged a textile factory here, but no one was killed. Extremists later tried to burn the textile warehouse. One guard was seriously wounded while pursuing the would-be incendiaries.

The shooting took the lives of Ramon Garcia, 24; Martin Ramirez, 26; Dan Villareal, 27, and Arturo Hernandez, 27.

The woman told police the shooting began in her home, which adjoins the taxi stand. Officers said Villareal clutched a pistol which had been fired four times when they found him and near Ramirez's body was a pistol which had been discharged five times.

Unlabeled died as he was being taken to a hospital. No weapons were found near the bodies of the other two.

Embarrassment Felt At Church Collections

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Circulation of collection plates embarrasses unemployed church worshippers, Angus S. Hibbard, noted telephone engineer, said today in advocating abolition of the practice.

The man who invented the "busy" signal and designed the blue bell sign suggested as a church official that the Sunday collection be abandoned by all creeds.

"The stranger who is hard up probably tries to conceal some small coin as he gives it," Hibbard said. "If he gives nothing he stares fixedly ahead and tries to appear unaware. The money getting has spoiled much of the spirit of the service and he does not come again soon."

HOUSE ATTACHES SALARIES, NUMBER DRAW OPPOSITION

Unexpected Fight on Routine Resolution Presages
Session With Thrift in State Government as Predominant Issue.

By L. A. FARRELL.

Having completed its organization and elected its officers with startling swiftness, the Georgia legislature Monday lost no time in giving evidence that expected moves for state economy will predominate throughout the session. The first fund measure, that providing for payment of house attaches, was held up, at least until Wednesday, because of opposition to the number of employees and to their salaries.

Representative E. D. Rivers, of Lanier county, twice a candidate for governor, was chosen speaker of the house and Senator Hamilton McWhorter, of Lexington, elected president of the senate. Both are known as supporters of the administration of Governor Eugene Talmadge, who will take office at noon today.

Second honors in the house went to Representative Ellis G. Arnall, of Coweta county, named speaker pro tem. Senator H. A. Carothers, of Winder, was chosen president pro tem. of the senate.

All of the house and senate officers were chosen on the first ballot.

Russell Speaks Today.

Today the two branches of the assembly will meet in joint session to hear the final message of Governor Richard B. Russell, Jr., and then to inaugurate and hear the initial message of Governor Eugene Talmadge. Prior to receiving these official messages, the house and senate will canvass the election returns and officially declare Mr. Talmadge elected governor.

The inauguration ceremony is heard at 10:30 o'clock and the Talmadge address at 12 o'clock, immediately after the new governor is administered the oath of office by Chief Justice Richard B. Russell Sr., of the state supreme court.

Two new state officials, Attorney-General S. C. Yeomans and State School Superintendent M. D. Collins, also will take office today.

Judge Yeomans will succeed Lawrence S. Camp, who was appointed to complete the unexpired term of the late Attorney-General George Napier and who did not offer for re-election.

Mr. Collins will succeed Dr. M. L. Duggan, whom he defeated in the September primary.

Despite delay in the adoption of the resolution providing for the selection of the new officers and the legalizing of their salaries, there was nothing to mar the organization of either branch of the assembly. Even though there were

GILLIAM MAILING SCHOOL QUESTIONS

Committee Head Says He Expects Full Response From Teachers.

Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman of the finance and schools committee of council, and ex-officio member of the Atlanta board of education, Monday night was mailing out questionnaires to 1,400 members of the teaching force of the Atlanta public schools over his own signature, after having failed to have either Willis A. Sutton, superintendent, or Dr. Noah Baird, board president, join him in the move.

In a letter accompanying the questionnaire Gilliam told the teachers they are to be returned without signatures. He seeks reaction of the teachers as to the relative value of the 4-4-3-3 system as against the 7-4 plan; the visual education and testing and guidance departments and kindergartens during the present emergency, and also asks whether they believe a small board could better conduct the affairs of the department.

Wine Growers Offer "Czar's" Job to Walker

NICE, France, Jan. 9. (UP)—James F. Walker, erstwhile mayor of New York, today considered an offer to become the "czar" of a French wine exporting company.

The former mayor was approached by the tennis player, Henri Cochet, acting for the wine growers. Cochet's offer was that Walker take over the American agency for numerous wine makers if and when prohibition is repealed.

Walker was said to be considering the offer seriously. He signed a 10-month lease on a modernistic house atop the aristocratic Californian Hill, overlooking Cannes and the azure Mediterranean, however, indicating he had no intention of returning to the United States soon.

CAROLINA UTILITY MUST CUT RATES

Broad River Power Company Plans To Fight Commission Ruling.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 9. (AP)—The South Carolina railroad commission today ordered reductions of $173,446 a year in the rates of the Broad River Power Company, of Columbia, the first company it proceeded against in an announced program for reductions of more than $1,000,000 a year in power rates in the state.

The commission's order followed a long series of hearings at which voluminous testimony was given by its electrical utilities division and the power company. The hearings began last September 20.

Local officials of the company, when told of the order, said they would fight it "to the last ditch." They planned first, they said, to ask the commission for a rehearing, and, if this was refused, take the matter into the courts.

In a lengthy judgment and opinion accompanying the order, the commission fixed $12,500,000 as a "fair valuation" of the company's physical properties, for rate making purposes as against the company's own figure of more than $28,000,000. It set "between six and seven per cent" as a fair rate of return.

It said the company, with the ordered reduction, would still earn a return of nearly 10 per cent on the $12,500,000 valuation.

COL. GRAYSON URGES VETERANS' PENSIONS

Calling on members of the general assembly to provide adequate pensions for Confederate veterans, Colonel William L. Grayson, commander of the Georgia division of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, has dispatched letters to all, setting out that with only a few more than 1,000 defenders of "the lost cause" left, the veterans are growing into old age and are in need of their pension money.

In his letter Colonel Grayson set out that at present the state is approximately two months behind with the pensions and that some legislation should be enacted so the veterans and their widows may be cared for. The Confederate pensions are paid with revenues from the cigar tax law.

I. K. Hay, executive secretary to Governor Richard B. Russell Jr., said Monday that pensions are not two months behind. Hay said that the November pensions, due December 1, were paid the first week in December and that the December pensions, due January 1, would be paid within two weeks. He complained that the delay was due to the falling off of the cigar and cigarette tax and that it had not been possible for the revenue department to make collections large enough to pay the pensions on the day they are due.

Roosevelt Intervenes In Case of Mooney

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 9. (AP)—Governor James Rolph Jr., today received from Franklin D. Roosevelt, president-elect, a letter transmitting a communication that Mrs. Mary Mooney gave to him in behalf of her son, Tom Mooney, serving a life sentence for the 1916 Preparedness Day bombing at San Francisco.

The president-elect said he had explained to Mrs. Mooney that he could send her letter to Governor Rolph only in his capacity of a private citizen and that he would do so because Mrs. Mooney represented that additional evidence had been discovered.

Rolph said he would confer with Matt I. Sullivan, of San Francisco, former state supreme court judge and his legal adviser in the Mooney case, before acknowledging the letter.

Kreuger Discrepancies Checked Back to 1917

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Manipulation of Kreuger & Toll accounts goes back at least to 1917, reported Price, Waterhouse & Co. today, following an investigation which has been under way by that auditing firm since last May.

From June 1, 1918, to March 31, last, said the report, monies raised from the public through the sale of shares and debenture issues amounted approximately $560,000,000 at par. In addition about $164,000,000 was obtained through bank loans and on bills.

Most of this money was invested in the government and other marketable securities, in subsidiary manufacturing and trading companies and in the match monopolies except for about $116,000,000, which were withdrawn by Kreuger and remain unaccounted for.

The investments were valued on March 31, last, at about $207,700,000 which, compared with the aggregate cost of $458,280,000, reveals a shrinkage of $250,580,000.

REV. P. H. TRAVIS, NEGRO MINISTER, DIES AT AGE OF 68

Rev. P. H. Travis, 68, well-known negro Methodist minister, died Monday morning at his residence at 643 Fair street, after an illness of one day. He was stricken Sunday morning as he prepared to go to his church, the Wiley Memorial M. E., to preach.

Travis was widely known over the state and had held many pastorates, including Gainesville, Rome, Griffin, Newnan, Fayetteville, Central Avenue, Atlanta and the Wiley Memorial church. He was presiding elder of the Griffin district in the Atlanta conference for six years, and at another time was head of the agricultural department of the Georgia State College, in Savannah, for the same number of years.

Well educated, he was one of the most respected members of his race and spent his life advancing the cause of the negro. His position was one of the highest in the negro Methodist church in the state.

Active in fraternal affairs as well as in educational and religious work, he had been secretary and treasurer of his Masonic lodge until failing health forced him to resign some time ago.

Surviving are his wife, seven children and several grandchildren. Funeral arrangements had not been completed.

SIX PERSONS INJURED IN MOTOR ACCIDENTS

Six persons were treated at Grady hospital early Monday morning for automobile injuries, four occurring in one collision, one man being struck as he walked across a street and another hurt when his car and one driven by a negro chauffeur, on Peachtree street, near Peachtree station collided. C. A. Hill, 39, of Roswell, whose car was struck by a car said by officers to have been driven by a negro, was the most seriously hurt. He received injuries on the head.

Others injured were D. S. Strickland, 44, of Douglasville; Sergeant Philip Morris, 27, of Fort McPherson; Private John B. Levin, of Fort McPherson; Mrs. Birdie Shott, of 403 Boulevard S. E., and B. J. Campbell, 44, of 12 Gould street, Lakewood Heights. They were treated at Grady hospital and dismissed.

REFORMS ASKED IN NEW YORK CITY

Hofstadter Body Advocates Changes in Administrative Make-Up.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 9. (AP)—Drastic and fundamental changes in the New York city government, which in some respects would minimize the power of Tammany Hall, were recommended by the Hofstadter legislative committee in its report filed with the legislature tonight.

In broad general principles, the views of the committee, as expressed in the report, agree with those of its counsel, Samuel Seabury.

Some of the suggestions follow the line of those made before the inquiry board by former Governor Alfred E. Smith when he appeared as a witness.

The report summarizes the recommendations in this manner:

"We believe that there should be a single body elected by proportional representation, possessing the legislative and policy-forming powers of the city; increased executive responsibility, particularly in the preparation of the budget; a consolidation and simplification of some of the city departments; a decentralization by boroughs of purely local problems; the abolition or consolidation of county offices within the city (the city is composed of five counties), and a revision of the provisions governing the city's fiscal affairs."

The report recommends that New York city voters be permitted to decide, through a special election in May, if they want a new charter carrying out the suggestions.

GILBERT PROMOTED BY GLIDDEN COMPANY

C. K. Gilbert, who has been with the Glidden Paint Co. for several years, has been given an important promotion, according to an announcement made on Monday by the company.

He has been made manager of the Atlanta branch of the Glidden Paint Co., with headquarters at 19 Houston street, near Pryor street.

Mr. Gilbert has been with the Glidden Paint Co. since 1918 as state representative and is said to be one of the best posted men in the paint and paint business. He enjoys a wide acquaintance in his line not only in Atlanta, but throughout the state made during his activities in the business.

All his experience and enthusiasm he will bring to his new post. He was receiving congratulations Monday on his promotion.

His new business for some time has shared the fate of other lines, notably the building industry with which it is so closely allied. That industry has been quiet for some time.

"There are brighter indications for 1933," Mr. Gilbert said on assuming his new duties. "Everything points to a gradual but steady improvement all along the line, and our business will be no exception."

RAIL COMMISSION HASTENS REPORT

Coolidge's Place Will Not Be Filled, Leaders Decide.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP)—At its first meeting since the death of Calvin Coolidge, the national transportation committee announced today that the former president's place on the committee would not be filled.

The committee was formed last fall to make a comprehensive study of the nation's various forms of transportation, with a view of recommending changes in legislation and regulations governing them.

Mr. Coolidge, as chairman, had directed the work of the committee, which last month held a series of hearings here at which various groups of transportation enterprises expressed their viewpoints on national coordination of traffic systems.

Included were the railroads, railroad equipment manufacturers, automobile makers, aviation industry, savings banks, investment bankers and the inland waterways groups.

Former Governor Alfred E. Smith said after today's meeting that the committee's report would be completed as soon as possible. He said it would be far more comprehensive than had been originally planned.

Bernard M. Baruch, as vice chairman of the committee, presided.

The committee's resolutions of condolence and sympathy will be drawn up by Clark Howell, publisher of The Atlanta Constitution, and sent to Mrs. Coolidge.

Dr. Harold G. Moulton, head of the Brookings Institute, of Washington, who is serving as special adviser and investigator for the committee,

Chicago 'Begger' Dies, Leaving $9,100 in Cash
CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Jacob Germani, 65, believed by police to have made his living by begging, was found dead, presumably of heart disease, in a "flophouse."

Bank books found in his clothing showing he had $9,100 on deposit in one Chicago bank and $2,500 in another.

submitted reports at today's meeting. Dr. Moulton has gone over the interstate commerce commission's records, preparing a digest of its findings covering a period of years of study of railroad problems.

3-CENT POSTAL GAIN SET AT $100,000,000

Loss in Volume Estimated at 10 Per Cent, Brown Reports.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(NANA) A loss in volume that will not exceed 10 per cent, in comparison with a gain in revenue estimated at $100,000,000 for the current fiscal year, is the net result of the three-cent postage rate for first-class mail that went into effect last July.

This is the opinion of Postmaster-General Brown, based on a study of the operation for the September quarter of the one-cent increase, which already is the subject of attack in congress, where Representative Mead, democrat of New York, chairman of the house committee on postoffices and post roads, has announced his intention of seeking to have it knocked out.

Opponents of the rate see it only as an enemy to business which should be done away with. The postmaster-general does not favor it except as an emergency measure.

Mr. Brown makes one qualification in his support of the rate under existing conditions, and that is in relation to "drop mail," or local letters. For this class, he has recommended that the postage be restored to two cents, adding that it is not equitable to levy the same charge on mail handled entirely at one point as on that transported over long distances.

The 50 largest offices showed receipts for the last quarter—April-June—of the fiscal year 1932, prior to the new rates, to be 17.53 per cent less than for the same quarter of 1931. Had there been no rate increase, Mr. Brown says, it is fair to assume the same decrease would have shown up in the first quarter of the present fiscal year. As it was, however, receipts for July, August and September totaled $73,410,570, compared with $74,301,583 for the same period in 1931, a loss of 1 per cent.

On this basis Mr. Brown estimates an income of $100,000,000 from the new rates from the whole country for this year.

AUTO VICTIM BETTER; DRIVER OF CAR SOUGHT

Describing his condition as improving, Mrs. W. B. Roberts, of 1103 Euclid avenue, N. E., Monday said her son, Charles Roberts, 17, was slowly recovering from injuries received when he was struck by an auto on November 25 at Hunter and Washington streets. The boy received a broken leg and injuries about the head and body.

Mrs. Roberts said that as soon as she could locate a woman, said to have witnessed the accident, that she would file suit against the driver of the auto which struck the boy while he was riding a bicycle. She requested that anyone knowing the identity of the woman who saw the crash and later accompanied her son to the hospital, communicate with her at Walnut 2052.

MAN KILLED BY AUTO IS STILL UNIDENTIFIED

The body of the man killed Thursday night by an automobile continued unidentified Monday at the establishment of Brandon-Bond & Condon, though many persons made tentative identifications which were promptly exploded after investigations by police.

Federal officers Monday sent fingerprints of the man to Washington, D. C., hoping to get some information as to his identity through government records.

Wise-Cracking Will Gets Speeding Ticket

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 9.—(UP)—Anyone who talks about statistics these days is a technocrat to Will Rogers.

The cowboy-humorist scratched his head and ruefully eyed the traffic policeman when Officer Roy Ewing pulled him to the curb.

"Let's have some statistics now, fella," Ewing demanded. "What's your name?"

"Well, I swear, you don't happen to be Mr. Technocrat, do you?" Rogers asked wryly. "I ain't. I'm just a plain old democrat, and I got no idea what your fingers are all about, son."

"Never mind the 'wisecrack,'" snapped the officer. "What's your name?"

When he learned, he handed Rogers a ticket ordering the comedian to post bond within five days or go to court on a speeding charge.

Gray Hair

Best Remedy is Made At Home

To halt pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any drugist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.—(adv.)

MRS. MAGGIE LAMBIDIN, OF ATHENS, DIES HERE

2 NEGROES BOUND OVER ON ROBBERY CHARGES

Clarence Miller and Zeke Turner, negroes, captured by patrolmen in a house on Felton drive, near Angier avenue, early Monday, were identified in recorder's court Monday afternoon by Lon Lattimore, coal peddler, and a 12-year-old assistant, as two of several negroes who beat Lattimore Saturday night and robbed him of $12. The two were bound over in $500 bond each on charges of robbery.

Six other negroes, arrested in the same house, were fined $12 and costs on charges of disorderly conduct.

MIAMI ELECTRIC RATE ATTACKED AT HEARING

Profit of $1,852,803 in Year Reported by Jacksonville Plant.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Electric light plant equipment and rates in Jacksonville and Miami were compared today before the city commission before the city commission, claiming that the base for rate fixing here by the Florida Power and Light Company is excessive.

C. S. Graham, of Jacksonville, testifying before the commission, said the Jacksonville plant, municipally owned, was valued at $3,108,705.84. Its gross earnings in 1932, he said, were $2,754,366.47, and expenses were $881,462.72, leaving a net profit of $1,852,803.75 to be turned into the city treasury for general city expenses.

Rates for current in Jacksonville, Graham said, range from a maximum of 7 cents per kilowatt hour down to 1 cent. Miami's maximum rate, he said, was brought out, is 12 cents per kilowatt hour.

ELECTION LAWS SCORED BY CAMP

Attorney-General, in Annual Report, Urges More Definite Regulations.

Election laws of Georgia are entirely insufficient, except where counties operate under the Australian ballot system, and either the election laws should be made more definite and certain, or the Australian ballot should be made applicable in all counties of the state, Attorney-General Lawrence Camp recommended Monday to the legislature in his annual report.

Attorney-General Camp said that there is no provision for the bond of the tax commissioner under the amendment authorizing the general assembly consolidate offices of tax collectors and receivers, and that 40 different acts creating the office of commissioner have widely varying provisions as to bonds. He recommended clarification by a general statute.

Clarification of the act of 1927 levying a tax on distributors of gasoline was recommended. Mr. Camp said that distributors have raised the point that they should be allowed a deduction for leakage, evaporation, fire, theft or other causes.

Mr. Camp recommended that a discretion be vested in the revenue commission or some other official board to settle tax claims in proper cases where small amounts are involved. Restrictions as to weight of motor vehicles under the 1927 law are not entirely clear, he said. He recommended the question of compensation of members of the state board of examiners of public accountants be considered, and that the law on eligibility to hold office be studied, confusion having arisen in connection with officers other than county officers.

BILL SEEKS REPEAL OF BANK CHECK TAX

COLDS! COLDS! COLDS!

You Hear it on Every Side! Fight Colds Vigorously Unless You Want to Become a Victim of

EPIDEMIC

PENETRO, the Mutton Suet Salve, Drives Out Colds Quicker Because It Penetrates 4 Times Deeper Directly to Center of Cold Infection

The long, icy arm of epidemic seems to be stretching out in every direction. If you value your health you'll guard it with utmost care for these are no times to take unnecessary chances. If you have a cold, drive it out before it has a chance to develop serious complications. Thousands of people everywhere are successfully combating colds quickly, safely, economically by using PENETRO, the deepest penetrating, most effective cold salve ever developed.

The Prompt, Positive Deep Penetrating Action of Penetro Drives Out Colds Quicker. Much Quicker!

Deep penetration is vitally necessary to the successful treatment of colds and congestion. Ordinary cold salves with their heavy base of mineral oil or petroleum don't penetrate and thus fall short of their purpose. PENETRO, with its base of highly refined mutton suet (nothing penetrates like mutton suet) penetrates deep within to carry its powerful cold-breaking medication directly to the very center of cold infection. That's why PENETRO breaks up congestion, draws out aches and pains and drives away head and chest colds before ordinary salves and methods get started.

At the first sneeze or sniffle, apply PENETRO NOSE AND THROAT DROPS and prevent that cold from getting a hold. PENETRO NOSE AND THROAT DROPS (contains ephedrine) has been approved by leading nose and throat specialists for the prevention and relief of head colds. Also brings quick relief to sinus infections. Ask your druggist for the generous size bottle, 25c. You can also secure the large size bottle at 50c.

MOTHERS! Protect Your Children From the Danger of Cold Epidemic

Mother's know that most children's colds are deep-seated, of a croupy nature and are accompanied by congestion. That's why deep penetrating PENETRO brings such quick comfort and relief. It penetrates deep within to soothe inflammation and break up congestion without delay. Mothers also prefer PENETRO because it is so clean and easy to use. PENETRO will not stain bed coverings or sleeping garments.

Use PENETRO This Way and You'll Understand Why It Is So Vastly Superior to Ordinary Cold Salves

Applied to the outside of each nostril and the throat, PENETRO soothes inflamed membranes, relaxes bronchial muscles, and opens up cold-clogged nasal passages to permit free, easy breathing. Applied to the chest, PENETRO warms the skin, stimulates circulation, breaks up congestion and draws out the aches and pains of deep-seated systemic colds. These are the things that must be done before your cold will leave. These are the things that PENETRO does quicker and more effectively than any other cold product you ever used before.

Talmadge and Leaders of Senate and House Pledge Co-operation at Dinner Given by Sims

Assurances of the fullest co-operation between leaders of the house and senate, the new governor and the democratic party in Georgia were given Monday night at a dinner for members of the house of representatives, given by Senator Walter A. Sims at the Henry Grady hotel. The first photograph of the state's new leaders taken together and their host is shown above as it was made at Senator Sims' dinner. Seated, from left to right, are Governor-elect Eugene Talmadge, Senator-elect Walter A. Sims, and President Hamilton McWhorter, of the state senate. Standing are Speaker E. D. Rivers, of the house, and Chairman Hugh Howell, of the democratic state executive committee. Staff photo by George Cornett.

house, and Colonel John T. Bouffant, assistant secretary of the senate.

Culpepper Leads Opposition to the speedy adoption of the resolution came first from the speaker, Representative J. Wesley Culpepper, of Fayette county, immediately after it was offered by Representative Roy Harris, of Richmond county, leader of the Rivers forces in the speakership fight and who is slated to be the vice chairman of the powerful rules committee, of which the speaker is ex-officio chairman.

The resolution permitted the speaker to employ the following:

One secretary at $5 a day; a sergeant-at-arms at $5 a day; a postmistress at $7 a day; an assistant postmistress at $4 a day; assistant doorkeepers at $4 a day and pages at $2 a day as the speaker deems needed, and secretaries for the three most important committees, the ways and means, appropriations and rules committees, at $5 a day.

Henceforth there have been no paid secretaries of these committees.

Immediately after Culpepper attacked the resolution, more than a dozen representatives supported his stand on motion from Representative Wilmer D. Lanier, of Richmond county, action on it was postponed until Wednesday, when it will be the first order of business.

The house adopted without a dissenting voice the other routine resolutions of organization which also were put through today.

Many Senate Bills Offered.

A number of bills were presented in the senate but the house adjourned without passing any members of the legislature they have in mind.

Elimination of local bills in the general assembly and provision for such matters to be handled otherwise will stand on motion from Representative Wilmer D. Lanier, of Richmond county, action on it was postponed until Wednesday, when it will be the first order of business.

New Governor 'Goes Western'

"Whoop!" exclaimed Governor-elect Eugene Talmadge Monday when he donned the cowboy costume, "they say this governor's job bronco is a tough horse, and I'm rearin' to ride." The cowboy outfit was presented to Talmadge by Colonel William Hutchinson, owner of Colonial Plantations, Leesburg, Ga., on the eve of Talmadge's inauguration. The cowboy rug on which the governor-elect is leaning also was given to him by Mr. Hutchinson, and it is the rug on which Mr. Talmadge will stand today when he takes the oath of office.

An adequate solution of present world economic problems.

"I have no particular objections to this thing they call technocracy," he said, "if it can be made to work. But it has a failing in common with most of the other heavens of man's imagination. I don't know how to get there. The technocrats don't tell me. So far, at least, I have been compelled to believe that the world is not a mechanical messiah, but that a Messiah is coming who will save us from our social sins. Only this is a mechanical Messiah."

He professed respect for Gandhi, but thinks that America is not composed of 120,000,000 Gandhis.

"The six-hour day and the five-day week," he said, "have now become not only practical but urgent. I am referring to the more emergency measure of sharing work during this depression."

"Since mass production, of necessity, is a perfecting, machine processes," he continued, "it follows that routine drudgery and toil must gradually be weeded out of life. Food, clothing and shelter will, therefore, in this mass production age, become relatively as cheap as water and the attention of business will be directed more and more to the production of goods for the masses and the organization of services for the masses which until now only the wealthy have been able to buy."

"The factory system, as we now know it, seems doomed to disappear. As mass production is perfected, there will be little further need for dividing such countries as the United States into agricultural and urban sections. The country will come to the city. This movement already has begun."

Under Senator Harlan's bill, jurisdiction for trial of kidnappers would be provided in the county where the kidnapping was held, or any county through which the kidnappers pass with their hostages.

Talmadge Will Take Office Amid Brief and Simple Rites

Little Pomp to Characterize Inauguration of South Georgian; Russell to Make Final Address.

Eugene Talmadge, south Georgia's first citizen since Thomas W. Hardwick to be the state's chief executive, will be inaugurated today, succeeding Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. The inaugural will take place at noon before a joint session of the house of representatives and the senate in the hall of the house, Chief Justice Richard B. Russell Sr., father of the retiring governor, will administer the oath to Governor Talmadge.

Arrangements had been completed Monday night by Adjutant General-designate Lindsey L. Camp to care for a large crowd of spectators, including about 200 Telfair county farmers and McRae citizens, close friends and neighbors of the new governor.

To Canvass Returns. At 10:15 o'clock this morning the assembly will meet to canvass the election returns and to formally declare Mr. Talmadge governor. Then the joint session will hear the farewell message of Governor Russell and the committee of the house and senate will proceed to the governor's office to formally notify Mr. Talmadge of his election. The new governor, with Secretary of State John B. Wilson, will there await the notification. Mr. Wilson to receive the great seal from Governor Russell which he later will transfer to Governor Talmadge.

The notification is set for 11:45 o'clock. Immediately after the ceremony, will administer the oath to Governor Talmadge.

The ceremony, in accordance with the wishes of Mr. Talmadge, will be simple. Beyond a short band concert by the 122d infantry band, there will be no music and there probably will be less decorations in the hall of the house than ever before.

Many persons who "catch one cold after another" during the winter think it's a different cold each time. As a matter of fact, it's often the same cold repeating itself. Uncured in the first place, the cold keeps coming back and all the time weakening your system and exposing you to more serious complications.

A cold requires decisive treatment or it will persist and make trouble for you. Many a serious illness has its start in a "slight" cold.

A COLD Remedy for a Cold
A cold is a specific condition and calls for specific treatment. Preparations good for half a dozen things besides colds can't be equally effective for colds. Many of these preparations actually make a cold more difficult of relief because they are constipating and also make the system acid.

A cold, moreover, calls for internal medication. For, a cold is an internal infection. Local or outside applications only delay a few of the symptoms and do not reach the real seat of the trouble.

The Four Effects Necessary
Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine knocks a cold and knocks it right because it does the four things necessary.

First of all, it opens the bowels. Second, it kills the cold germs and fever in the system. Third, it relieves the headache and grippiness feeling. Fourth, it tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

This is the treatment a cold requires and anything less is courting danger.

Effective, but Harmless!
Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is safe for young and old to take. It contains nothing harmful. Also, it may be taken with impunity whether you stay indoors or go out. For more than forty years it has been the standard cold and grippiness tablet of the world, the formula keeping pace with Modern Medicine.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine now comes in two sizes—30c and 50c. Get yourself a package today and be forewarned against colds. Ask for it by the full name and look for the initials L. B. Q. stamped on every tablet. Be suspicious of the dealer who offers you a substitute.

NOTE: During Epidemics a tablet or two of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine every morning and night will do much to fortify your system against infection.—(adv.)

Doctors Again Try To Wake Sleeping Girl

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Science is going to make another effort this week to arouse Oak Park's sleeping beauty.

Physicians announced they planned to give a blood transfusion to Miss Patricia Maguire, 27, who has been in a stupor at her home in the suburb since last February—the victim of sleeping sickness.

The blood is to be given by her stepfather, Peter Miloy.

H. H. Wind, of Cairo, was re-elected messenger of the house Monday, defeating Pat Avery, of Lawrenceville, by a vote of 134 to 54. The house also re-elected R. S. Talmadge, of Jasper county, its veteran doorkeeper. He defeated J. N. Hodges, of Monroe, 153 to 9.

Speaker E. D. Rivers announced Monday that though no resolution providing for their salary payments had been approved, he intended to appoint the Rev. H. Hardy Wagers, of Lanier, chaplain of the house, to reappoint his aunt, Mrs. John L. Livey, live in Atlanta, and will take part in the reception.

Mrs. J. W. Johnson, of Atlanta, postmistress, and to name Mrs. Jack Stewart, of Douglas, assistant postmistress. He also will appoint George Stewart, of Douglas, a son of the former Coffee county representative, his secretary. Mr. Wagers was in the house and was introduced Monday, but the opening prayer of the session was given by Dr. W. H. Faust, pastor of the Gordon Street Baptist church, of Atlanta.

Governor Richard B. Russell Jr., retiring chief executive, was about the capitol meeting old friends. When he leaves for Washington this afternoon to take his seat in the United States senate it will necessitate his absence at a session of the legislature for the first time in 13 years. He has served as a member, speaker pro tem, speaker and governor every day since he first was elected to public office in 1920. The governor said Monday that he will be a private citizen for a day before taking his oath late Wednesday afternoon but has decided now to await until Thursday morning.

Hamilton McWhorter, Lexington attorney, who succeeds the late Cecil Neill as president of the Georgia senate, would not have come back to the senate this year except for the complimentary attitude of another county in his district. Mr. McWhorter served last term as senator from the

WILLIAM H. COOPER, 76, REALTY DEALER, PASSES

Former Methodist minister Was Widely Known in Atlanta Business Circles.

William Henry Cooper, widely known figure in the real estate field here for 20 years, died Monday night at his residence at 1197 North avenue N. E., after a long period of failing health. He was 76 years of age.

Removing to Atlanta in 1912 from Norwood, Mr. Cooper organized the Cooper Realty Company, with offices in the Peters building, and operated it continuously until early last year when he was forced to retire because of ill health. He was well known in Atlanta business fields and conducted a large business in renting apartments and residences.

Mr. Cooper was an ordained Methodist minister and preached at Norwood for many years. He was born in Columbia county, Georgia, and throughout his life was active in church affairs. He was a member of the Druid Hills Methodist church here.

Funeral services are to be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Peachtree chapel of Brandon, Bond and Condon. Dr. John Brandon Peters and the Rev. B. F. Fraser will officiate. The body will be taken to Norwood for interment, Wednesday.

Surviving are three sons, Vernon M. Cooper, of Atlanta; W. C. Cooper, of Pelham; and A. H. Cooper, of Augusta; a daughter, Mrs. Nannie Buchanan, of Atlanta; a sister, Mrs. D. Youngblood, of brother, F. L. Cooper, of Augusta, and five grandchildren.

60th district, and under the rotation system, the senatorship this term would have gone to Clay county. Recognizing the opportunity of Mr. McWhorter to honor the 60th district by being elected president of the body, the Georgia legislature, at its time for a senator and Mr. McWhorter was re-elected. This is his fourth term in the senate and his fourth in the general assembly. Mr. McWhorter having served as Oglethorpe county's representative for two terms. He is a native of Penfield, Georgia county. His father, Robert Ligon McWhorter, was a cadet in the Confederate navy and helped to remove the Confederate treasury from Richmond when the city was evacuated. President McWhorter is the grandson of a captain in the Confederate army. He is a graduate of the University of Georgia and a former solicitor of the city court of Lexington.

Two women are in the legislature this term. One is Mrs. Susie T. Moore, of Tifton, senator from the forty-seventh district, and the other is Mrs. Helen Williams Coxon, of Ludowici, representative from Long county. Mrs. Moore was a member of the committee of escort for the new president, Mrs. Coxon is the first woman elected to public office in Long county in a number of years. She defeated two men for the place. Mrs. Coxon is a newspaper correspondent and historian, and a sister of Mrs. W. W. Meeks, of Atlanta. Both Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Coxon described their first day in the legislature as a delightful experience, and said that they were very much impressed by the manner in which the two bodies went about the work of the state. Mrs. Coxon said she believes reduction in taxation to be the main problem facing the general assembly. Her first speech consisted of a few words seconding the nomination of Ellis G. Arnall, of Coweta county, for speaker pro tem. Members of the house Monday addressed the chair with the salutation, "the lady and gentlemen of the house."

Chief Justice Richard B. Russell Sr., of the Georgia supreme court, father of Georgia's retiring governor and United States senator-elect, administered the oath of office to members of the new senate Monday.

A contest over the senate seat from the fifth district developed Monday. R. W. Davis, Waycross republican, filed notice that he will contest against R. J. S. Morris on the ground, he contends, that Morris has not paid his taxes and did not file with the ordinary notice of intention to run for the office. The district includes Atkinson, Clinch and Ware counties. Morris lives at Pearson.

Senator J. T. Sisk, Elberton, of the 30th district, announced that a 2 per cent sales tax designed to replace the ad valorem tax will be introduced in the house, and a constitutional amendment providing for abolition of the ad valorem tax will be offered in the senate. Mr. Sisk was in the house last term.

E. D. Rivers, speaker of the house of representatives, who succeeds Arlie Tucker, of Berrien county, has had one of the most colorful political careers of the modern age. Mr. Rivers, representing Lanier county, has Lakeview, Ga., as his home, but is a familiar figure in Atlanta through his numerous visits here. He is an editor as well as a lawyer and statesman, and edits the Ed Rivers Weekly, of Homerville, Ga. He ran for governor against L. G. Hardman and was defeated in 1928, and he ran again in 1930 in a four-cornered race, against Richard B. Russell, retiring governor, John N. Holder and George Caraway, but was defeated in the primary. Mr. Rivers was born December 1, 1895, and was graduated from Young Harris College in 1914. He is a member of the American Bar Association and several national orders. His children are E. D. Rivers Jr. and Miss Geraldine Rivers.

C. W. Kiker, of Fannin county, the lone republican in the house, is a prominent lumberman of north Georgia. Mr. Kiker is president of the Ellinger Lumber Company and the Jasper Planing Mill and Supply Company. His grandfather, Benjamin C. Dugger, represented Fannin county in the house and senate from 1872 to 1889.

A. P. Griffin, who was re-elected senate doorkeeper for his eighteenth consecutive year, lives in Decatur and is one of the most popular officials connected with the legislature. R. F. Guillebeau, of Lincoln, the new messenger of the senate, defeated five other candidates on the first ballot. Mr. Guillebeau served in the house as representative from Lincoln county in 1925-1928. He is an uncle of Lee R. Guillebeau, Atlanta attorney.

Statewide Programs Mark Mercer's 100th Anniversary

Prominent Georgians Take Part in Radio Broadcasts; Russell, Talmadge and Others Speak Here.

Mercer's 100th birthday anniversary was celebrated throughout the state Monday in a series of radio broadcasts in several cities, featuring talks by prominent Georgians and well-known members of the Mercer alumni. A 30-minute program over WSB was Atlanta's part of the ceremonies, and other programs were given in Athens, Thomasville, Macon and Augusta.

Governor Richard B. Russell, Governor-elect Eugene Talmadge, Dr. C. K. Henderson, oldest graduate, and Hugh Willet, descendant of the founder, made short addresses here in ceremonies arranged by Dr. Louie D. Newton, president of the general alumni association.

It was the first celebration of a year of observance of the Baptist institution's centennial. Plans include an elaborate celebration at the commencement exercises in Macon, at which Dr. Glenn Frank will speak, and a banquet to be held here this summer in conjunction with the observance of the bi-centennial of the founding of the original Georgia colony.

Throughout the year radio broadcasts will be given, telling of the distinguished history of the college and of the accomplishments of its graduates.

The college was founded the first Monday after the second Sunday in January of 1833. Dr. Spright Lowell is president.

MRS. K. L. BARNES, 74, PIONEER CITIZEN, DIES
Mrs. K. L. Barnes, 74, pioneer Atlantian, died Monday night at the residence of her son, L. L. Barnes, at 248 East Lake drive, Decatur. She was stricken ill suddenly and died within a short time.

Mrs. Barnes was born in Atlanta and had lived here all her life. She is survived only by her son and a grandson, Lewis L. Barnes Jr., of Atlanta. Funeral arrangements will be announced by Howard L. Carmichael.

ATLANTA ACCLAIMS NEW 100 H. P. $1000 COMMANDER

NEW 6-PASSENGER SEDAN, $1075 F. O. B. FACTORY, IS ONE OF 12 SUPERB MODELS IN STUDEBAKER'S NEW COMMANDER SERIES PRICED FROM $1000 UPWARDS

Studebaker Presents Startling New Line of Cars Priced from $840 to $2040

Free from its sensational premiere at the New York Automobile Show, Studebaker's new 100 horsepower Commander Eight has arrived in town and is attracting ever increasing crowds to the local Studebaker showrooms.

Scheduled to sell for as little as $1000 f. o. b. factory, this remarkable new Studebaker is replete with 54 betterments including that marvelous advancement, Power Brakes, as well as a new, exclusively Studebaker system of entirely automatic carburetion and manifold.

While the fact that a 100 horsepower Commander at $1000 continues to be the spotlight news of the current Studebaker showing, local Studebaker officials point out that the two new President Eights and the new Studebaker Six are equally extraordinary values.

First with free wheeling and first in its price field with free safety glass in all windows and all windshields of all models, Studebaker again leads its price field—with the year's stand-out development—Power Brakes—available in all Studebakers, even the low priced Six, without extra charge.

It is interesting to note how thoroughly Studebaker keeps in advance of style trends as well as engineering trends in its price field. Many of the features spoken of as new by other cars this year are an old story to Studebaker owners. Roominess, for example, obtained by providing each Studebaker a wider tread, was a big factor in giving the 1932 Studebaker line its widespread acceptance. And the 1933 Studebakers are not only equally commodious but they have been given new touches of luxury in upholstery, seat cushions and fittings that keep them far in advance of the procession.

You notice also that the 1933 Studebakers are decidedly low swung. This effect is secured by mounting the Studebaker frame on smaller wheels which give the whole car increased roadability and steadiness while increasing the aerodynamic appearance.

Local Studebaker headquarters say that a majority of all requests for appraisals since the 1933 cars arrived come from people interested in the new $1000 Commander. Arrangements for demonstration drives in the 100 horsepower $1000 Commander and the other Studebaker models have been so well organized that there is very little waiting involved.

WASTED TAX MONEY.

If Georgia wants to save from three to four million dollars a year, of taxpayers' money, much of which is now wasted, county consolidations will do it.

One of the most hopeful developments growing out of the financial embarrassment, faced generally by state and local governments throughout the United States, is the evident realization by the taxpayers that they are carrying an unnecessary heavy burden in the support of superfluous county governments.

In the case of many of these county governments their support represents just so much tax money practically thrown away, because better service could be secured at much less cost through consolidation of groups of counties.

And Georgia is the worst sufferer of all the states.

There are now 3,072 counties in the 48 states of the Union, each with a full complement of officers and employees, a large proportion of which, because of the development of rapid transportation and modern methods of communication, have long outlived their usefulness.

With 159 counties, this state has an average of only 370 square miles to the county. The needlessness of counties comprising so little territory is shown by the size of counties in other states of approximate size, population and wealth. North Carolina has 480 square miles to the county, Michigan 620, Ohio 450 and Illinois 550.

Georgia is twentieth in size of all the states of the Union, and yet only one, Texas, having an area of 262,000 square miles, as against 59,000 for Georgia, has a larger number of counties.

The people of Georgia would receive far better county government, at a saving of millions of dollars a year, if the number of counties in the state were cut in half. Counties that are now little more than "youngling places for office-holders, whose duties require but a few minutes a day to perform, could be made worth-while additions to the public school system, and other abandoned buildings could be put to equally advantageous use.

There is hardly a county seat in Georgia that cannot be reached in less than an hour from its farthest border, over its worst roads. Before good roads and the advent of the automobile, the same trip would have required the greater part of a day. Now, in the same length of time that it took a resident of one of these counties to go to his courthouse in the olden days, he can travel halfway across the state.

In the days of slow transportation there may have been some excuse for the multiplicity of counties. Now the only excuse is to give opportunity for a horde of largely useless office-holders to fatten at the public trough.

This the people of the whole country are now realizing, and in a dozen states there are well organized movements looking to county government consolidations, while there is general discussion of the subject in a dozen other states.

The burden of local taxation is far heavier than that for the support of state and national governments, and the people have the way out at their own command—through county consolidation.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

And Religion.

The new book of Bernard Shaw entitled "The Adventures of a Black Girl in Search of God" is, according to some critics, the greatest thing he has ever written. It is an attack on religion. Yet there is little new in it. What Mr. Shaw tells us is the students of comparative religion have told us long ago. It is, in fact, a popularization of scientific research in the field of religion. Mr. Shaw, I think, does the world a service by pointing out that the God of Noah, who drowned the human race by flood, is the same as the God of the Jews, who drowned the human race by flood. There is no question either that the idea of God is a human invention, or that the idea of God is a human invention. Mr. Shaw is not so far wrong when he said that man makes his gods in his own image.

The founder of Christianity preached God as a great Father, full of loving kindness and mercy. That was the highest conception of God ever reached. We ourselves are guilty of having done a great deal to destroy this vision. In the great war, which was the beginning of the present era with its nationalistic creed, God was dethroned and given the significance of a mere tribal demon. The Germans had their "Alte Gott," the British their "God of the God of our fathers, the French their God of the God of the French. Every nation, as it were, pressed God into its service after first spoliating the divine essence into innumerable tribal deities. It was a retrogression into barbarism in more than one way, that war. For long, long ago it had been said: Adonai, Eloheh, Adonai, Eloheh, which means: The Lord our God is one, that is to say, indivisible.

Who are we to belittle the heavenly majesty?

Jugo-Slavia

And Italy.

Dalmatia on the Adriatic coast is peopled mainly by human beings of the Italian race. But it belongs to Jugo-Slavia. Recently a mob of real Jugo-Slavs destroyed an old Italian monument in the town of Trau. As they smashed these monuments they shouted: "Down with Italy! Away with Mussolini!"

If it had been merely the work of hooligans, little harm would have resulted. But Mussolini himself has said that "these acts of barbarism are definitely inspired by the town of Trau." He declared, and then with bitterness in his voice the Duke added: "Yes, and not in token of its complete agreement with the Duke's statements."

If Mussolini is right that the anti-Italian movement in Jugo-Slavia is inspired by influential persons, the principle must be well aware that they are playing with fire. Mussolini will not stand for any fooling. On the other hand, Jugo-Slavia, tottering on the verge of bankruptcy, is a longer count on French support in the same manner it could count on that a few months ago. France is changing her foreign policy. There is a real danger that the French chamber, which is adverse to the old military alliances.

SMOOT INDORES INFLATION.

The rapidity with which sentiment is crystallizing behind the various suggestions for currency inflation, is emphasized by the favorable statements Sunday of Chairman Smoot, of the senate finance committee, and Sir Arthur Salter, outstanding British economist.

Senator Smoot is frankly of the opinion that "there has got to be some form of inflation very soon if we are to improve conditions," while Sir Arthur feels that "every problem with which we are faced would be lightened" by united effort along this line by the nations of the world.

There is no more critical threat to finance and business than over-inflation, but little danger of such a result exists in the United States because of the control of the currency value possible under the federal reserve system.

It is all the more important, therefore, that congress, when it has balanced the budget and completed its consideration of economy measures, should carefully study the various proposals for sane and sound inflation.

The greatest necessity for inflation lies in the need to rehabilitate the buying power of the farmer. It is only just that the value of the dollar should be brought more in line with the value of his products—but of far greater importance is the undeniable fact that until this equality is re-established neither finance nor business can hope to be again prosperous.

SMOOT INDORES INFLATION.

The rapidity with which sentiment is crystallizing behind the various suggestions for currency inflation, is emphasized by the favorable statements Sunday of Chairman Smoot, of the senate finance committee, and Sir Arthur Salter, outstanding British economist.

Senator Smoot is frankly of the opinion that "there has got to be some form of inflation very soon if we are to improve conditions," while Sir Arthur feels that "every problem with which we are faced would be lightened" by united effort along this line by the nations of the world.

There is no more critical threat to finance and business than over-inflation, but little danger of such a result exists in the United States because of the control of the currency value possible under the federal reserve system.

It is all the more important, therefore, that congress, when it has balanced the budget and completed its consideration of economy measures, should carefully study the various proposals for sane and sound inflation.

The greatest necessity for inflation lies in the need to rehabilitate the buying power of the farmer. It is only just that the value of the dollar should be brought more in line with the value of his products—but of far greater importance is the undeniable fact that until this equality is re-established neither finance nor business can hope to be again prosperous.

And Religion.

The new book of Bernard Shaw entitled "The Adventures of a Black Girl in Search of God" is, according to some critics, the greatest thing he has ever written. It is an attack on religion. Yet there is little new in it. What Mr. Shaw tells us is the students of comparative religion have told us long ago. It is, in fact, a popularization of scientific research in the field of religion. Mr. Shaw, I think, does the world a service by pointing out that the God of Noah, who drowned the human race by flood, is the same as the God of the Jews, who drowned the human race by flood. There is no question either that the idea of God is a human invention, or that the idea of God is a human invention. Mr. Shaw is not so far wrong when he said that man makes his gods in his own image.

The founder of Christianity preached God as a great Father, full of loving kindness and mercy. That was the highest conception of God ever reached. We ourselves are guilty of having done a great deal to destroy this vision. In the great war, which was the beginning of the present era with its nationalistic creed, God was dethroned and given the significance of a mere tribal demon. The Germans had their "Alte Gott," the British their "God of the God of our fathers, the French their God of the God of the French. Every nation, as it were, pressed God into its service after first spoliating the divine essence into innumerable tribal deities. It was a retrogression into barbarism in more than one way, that war. For long, long ago it had been said: Adonai, Eloheh, Adonai, Eloheh, which means: The Lord our God is one, that is to say, indivisible.

Who are we to belittle the heavenly majesty?

Jugo-Slavia

And Italy.

Dalmatia on the Adriatic coast is peopled mainly by human beings of the Italian race. But it belongs to Jugo-Slavia. Recently a mob of real Jugo-Slavs destroyed an old Italian monument in the town of Trau. As they smashed these monuments they shouted: "Down with Italy! Away with Mussolini!"

If it had been merely the work of hooligans, little harm would have resulted. But Mussolini himself has said that "these acts of barbarism are definitely inspired by the town of Trau." He declared, and then with bitterness in his voice the Duke added: "Yes, and not in token of its complete agreement with the Duke's statements."

If Mussolini is right that the anti-Italian movement in Jugo-Slavia is inspired by influential persons, the principle must be well aware that they are playing with fire. Mussolini will not stand for any fooling. DEFENSE BLAMED FOR SOVIET DELAY

War Peril Is Cause of Lagging in 5-Year Schedule, Salin Declares.

MOSCOW, Jan. 9.—(P)—Joseph V. Stalin, reporting to the country today on the results of the recently concluded first five-year plan, admitted that only 93.7 per cent of the general industrial program had been fulfilled, declaring the danger of war compelled the nation to neglect this production in order that it might divert itself to preparing means of defense.

"B. C." Relieves Your Headache In 3 Minutes

Realizing that no one drug can relieve all headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina pharmacist has developed a combination of several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to relieve almost any headache in a few minutes. You can get this formula wherever drugs are sold under the name "B. C." 10c and 25c packages, and when you have one of those violent nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, "B. C." will give you soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia, reducing fever, and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit-forming drugs.—(adv.)

Dill Seeks Purchase Of Silver by U. S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(P)—Authority for the treasury to buy $250,000,000 worth of silver bullion through the issuance of silver certificates was asked today in a bill by Senator Dill, democrat, Washington.

The silver would be purchased at the market price, he limited to a maximum of $1.25 per ounce of bullion.

The certificates would be legal tender for all debts.

Off the senate floor, Dill said he considered the proposal "the soundest thing that has been offered" so far to aid silver immediately.

He was delivered verbally last Saturday at a joint meeting of the communist party central committee and the central control committee. It was published today.

In his first speech in more than a year and a half, Stalin defended his policies which, he acknowledged, had been a great strain on the country, declaring they had been necessary to insure future development.

Asserting that the failure to attain the objectives of the plan was "explained by the fact that neighboring countries refused to sign guaranty pacts with us and by complications in the far east," Stalin added that "we were compelled then to change the work in our factories in order to increase our means of defense."

"We have filled all the gaps now in this respect—we have completed everything for the defense of our country, but this had an effect on the fulfillment of our five year plan," he continued. "Without this circumstance we doubtless would have even exceeded the plan."

"The accomplishment of our means of defense, then, is the general result of the five year plan in industry. Now we use your own judgment about the shortcomings in the capitalist press about the 'failure of the five-year plan.'"

Contrasting dropping industrial output in crisis-ridden capitalist countries, he declared the volume of industrial production in the U. S. S. R. had increased, three times over the pre-war level and had doubled since 1928.

"It may have been better to produce more things for broad consumption," he said. "We all know we have produced less than was needed, resulting in well known difficulties, but consider the consequences of postponing our heavy industrial production in favor of making more shoes, clothes and other articles of consumption."

"We would have had to buy raw material for these things and we would then have had no tractors, no machinery, no metal. We would be without bread."

"As it is, we have lifted the country for all time from its position as the object of the military designs of our enemies, such as China now is. That is why the party is shown to have been right in insisting on such speed in heavy industrial production. That is why the party was compelled to lash the country in order not to lose a day's peace for the U. S. S. R. We had no possibility of waiting."

Auto Exhibitors Highly Pleased With Public's View of New Models

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(P)—Despite a short opening day Saturday and a rainy second day today, exhibitors at the National Automobile Show were unanimous in expressing satisfaction over the public's reception of their new models.

Although it was too early to obtain adequate figures on which to compare sales and attendance, the four exhibition floors of Grand Central Palace were crowded with sightseers and dealers reported numerous inquiries.

Emphasis has been placed upon elaborate exhibits showing the workings of the engines and nearly every booth has a chromium model of its car's motor with glass plates through which the entire mechanism may be seen.

On exhibitor has a device which revolves an entire chassis in a 30-foot wheel in which a demonstrator and two pretty girls point out the features of the machine. Every model displayed in this booth in the same color—sandy brown—with carpet and attendants' uniforms matching.

Girls were used as demonstrators at many booths and one car, on an elevated platform, had a moving scene background for the two young women "driving" it.

A drastically streamlined model brought out by a manufacturer of cars in the higher-priced class created much attention but attendants reported none had been sold and only a few would be manufactured.

The car, guaranteed to do 115 miles an hour, is "teardrop" shaped with the headlights at the front of the fenders are carried back in molding along the sides of the car stimulating the exhaust pipes of a racing car. The frame tapers at the front and rear, the door handles on the sides are counter-sunk and there are no running boards.

Sensational streamlining also features the new model of a low-priced four but it is of a different fashion. The lenses of the headlights in front are flush with the fenders and the rear light also is sunk into the body. The car looks something like a locomotive from both the front and rear.

Beneath a placard reading, "Advertising has been one of the principal factors in the success of the motor industry," is an extensive display of automotive advertising from the earliest days to the present time.

The chief executive has until Saturday either to approve or veto the bill, or allow it to become law without his signature. White House aides said action probably could be expected by the middle of the week. Unless he overrides the recommendations of both Secretaries Stimson and Hurley, Mr. Hoover will veto the measure.

100-YEAR-OLD DEED FOUND IN BOOKCASE
Showing that large tracts of land in Georgia at one time were free to those who desired them, an old deed and surveyor's certificate more than 100 years old have been found in a drawer of an antique bookcase recently purchased by C. Y. McCollum, Atlanta businessman. The ancient papers, yellowed with age, are now in his possession.

The land grant was for 250 acres in Richmond county and was a parcel of the vast territory acquired of the Creek and Cherokee Indians in north Georgia. The deed was made out to David Urquhart and signed by his excellency, the governor of Georgia, John Burch, on August 15, 1821. The surveyor's certificate was made in 1820 by George R. Clayton, the paper showing that he received a fee of $18 for his efforts.

'JACK' WALTON RETURNS TO OFFICE IN OKLA.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 9.—(P)—J. C. (Jack) Walton, impeached and ousted as governor in 1923 after a brief but spectacular administration, returned to power in the Oklahoma statehouse today. He was inducted into office as a member of the corporation commission, regulatory authority over public utilities and oil production, to which he was elected last November. Walton succeeds C. C. Childers on the commission.

Fixed Assets AND NOTHING ELSE

WHY cannot a bank make a loan solely on fixed assets?
Here is a common question which I find that many capable business men do not clearly understand.

Let me illustrate with a practical case in a distant city which came to my notice recently. The men applying for a loan owned a large business establishment, valued in real estate, plant and equipment at half a million dollars. That was the security they offered for a $50,000 loan.

Suppose the request had been granted. Assume that at the end of any reasonable loan period, they were unable to discharge the obligation. What must the bank do to free the depositors' money?

(a) The bank can take over the plant and run it in the hope of paying the obligation out of the profits, if any. In other words, the bank can go into the manufacturing business.

(b) The bank can perhaps force a sale of the plant, thereby putting the principals out of the business which they have built, and probably entailing a heavy loss to the owners.

No good bank wants to take either of these actions. Therefore, it will not make a loan solely on fixed assets.

RUSS RECOGNITION GROWING IN FAVOR

Twenty-Two of 51 Senators Polled Urge Resumption of Relations.

By WILLIAM W. CHANCE.

(Copyright, 1933, by The North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—With recognition of Russia by the United States virtually certain to be considered seriously during the Roosevelt administration, there is a growing disposition among leaders of the next democratic congress to favor diplomatic relations with the soviet government.

In the senate, particularly, a strong feeling for recognition exists, an important indication, since the senate alone may determine whether or not the country shall renew the relations terminated upon the overthrow of the Kerensky government by the bolsheviks 17 years ago, and the failure of the soviet to settle satisfactorily debts owed this country by the old czarist and Kerensky governments.

By simply confirming the presidential appointment of an ambassador to Moscow, the senate automatically would re-establish diplomatic relations with Russia. House concurrence is not necessary in such a case.

22 Favor Recognition.

Of the 51 senators who will return to the 73rd congress and whose views on the long-controversial Russian question were sought, 22 definitely went on record for recognition, 20 declined to commit themselves and only 9 expressed opposition, some of whom attached reservations.

The house, apparently doomed to have little or nothing to do with the issue, was not so extensively polled. Representative Rainey, of Illinois, present majority leader and a leading candidate for the speakership in the next congress, is in favor of recognition, however. His opinion may be regarded as influential in the lower house of congress.

In years past, Senator Borah, present chairman of the powerful foreign relations committee, has been the champion of the Russian recognition cause in the senate. Although in the next congress he will be just another minority republican, he may be counted upon to revive the issue in the event the democrats fail to take the initiative.

Democrats Lead Group.

However, a greater sentiment favorable to Russia was found among the democrats than among the republicans. Sixteen of the 22 senators who went on record in behalf of recognition are democrats, while six are "insurgents" or "progressives." La Follette, of Wisconsin; Cutting, of New Mexico; and Norris, of Nebraska, are the only democrats who supported Roosevelt for president, and Borah, who refused to come out openly for either Roosevelt or Hoover. The other two, Lynn J. Frazier and Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, have voted frequently against republican dictators.

Of the nine known oppositionists, four are democrats—King of Utah, Copeland of New York, Sheppard of Texas, and Walsh of Massachusetts. The five republicans are Barbour of New Jersey, Reed of Ohio, Robinson of Indiana, Fess of Pennsylvania and Vandenberg of Michigan.

The 22 senators indicating approval of moves to recognize Russia were Borah, republican, Idaho; La Follette, republican, Wisconsin; Bankhead, democrat, Alabama; Butler, democrat, South Dakota; Black, democrat, Alabama; Wagner, democrat, New York; Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma; Cutting, republican, New Mexico; Costigan, democrat, Colorado; Caraway, democrat, Arkansas; Logan, democrat, Kentucky; Pittman, democrat, Nevada; Walsh, democrat, Montana; Wheeler, democrat, Montana; Dill, democrat, Washington; Frazier, republican, North Dakota; McKellar, democrat, Kansas; McKellar, democrat, Tennessee; Norris, republican, Nebraska; Nye, republican, North Dakota; Gore, democrat, Oklahoma; and Hull, democrat, Tennessee.

Nine senators listed as definitely opposed are King, democrat, of Utah; Barbour, republican, New Jersey; Copeland, democrat, New York; Fess, republican, Ohio; Robinson, republican, Indiana; Reed, republican, Pennsylvania; Sheppard, democrat, Texas; Vandenberg, republican, Michigan; and Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts.

Those who refused to express a definite opinion at this time numbered 20, and were Hayden, democrat, Arizona; Hebert, republican, Rhode Island; Hale, republican, Maine; Smith, democrat, South Carolina; Townsend, democrat, Delaware; Ashurst, democrat, Arizona; Couzens, republican, Michigan; Harrison, democrat, Mississippi; Lewis, democrat, Illinois; Barkley, democrat, Kentucky; Tydings, democrat, Maryland; Austin, republican, Vermont; Glass, democrat, Virginia; Capper, republican, Kansas; Kean, republican, New Jersey; George, democrat, Georgia; Bulkeley, democrat, Ohio; Byrnes, democrat, South Carolina; Connally, democrat, Texas, and Coolidge, democrat, Massachusetts.

SOCIETY GIRL LOST, N. Y. POLICE REVEAL

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(UP)—New York and Massachusetts police are searching for a 19-year-old Worcester, Mass., society girl and three companions, who have been missing since January 4, it was learned Sunday.

The girl is Miss Marie Anne DuBois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. DuBois. DuBois is a real estate and insurance man.

She disappeared, it was understood, with Miss Evelyn Becker, of Worcester; Dwight Lindsey Pierce, Harvard student whose home is in Worcester, and John Mackintosh, New York, a student at Syracuse University. The four disappeared, it was said, in Pierce's automobile.

AKRON IS MOORED

TO MAST IN MIAMI

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 9.—(UP)—Returning from a training cruise at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, the naval ship Akron rode snugly at her mooring mast here tonight. Tomorrow soon after 9 o'clock she will cast off for a flight up the Atlantic seaboard to her home dock at Lakehurst, N. J.

Piles Go Quick!

itching, bleeding or protruding piles go quickly and don't come back if you really remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the lower bowel and hemorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead. Salves and suppositories fail because only an internal medicine that stimulates the circulation and drives out the impure blood can actually correct the cause of piles. Dr. J. S. Leonard discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients with success in over 900 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. Jacobs Drug Stores and druggists everywhere sell HEM-ROID Tablets with guarantees they will end your Pile misery or money back.—(adv.)

13-Spade Hand Lost By Incredible Player

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—(UP)—"You can't kid me," exclaimed Walter Smith, real estate broker, when he picked up a bridge hand and saw that it contained 13 spades. Smith had stepped out of the room while the hand was being dealt and believed the cards had been "fixed" while he was gone. He threw the hand on the table, face up, and thus lost the chance to play it.

Others in the game said the hand had been dealt properly.

Blind Man Is Slain, Sightless Friend Held

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 9.—(UP)—The sightless eyes of Joseph Parker, 45, were closed in death here today and police said a murder charge would be filed against Manuel Licon, 38, another blind man, who allegedly stabbed Parker in a quarrel over a woman.

Licon collapsed in his cell at the city prison as he was told of Parker's death from wounds inflicted yesterday at the home of the woman, Mrs. Elena Aguilar, 45.

Mrs. Aguilar, who police said precipitated the fatal quarrel by expressing her dislike for Parker, had a preference for Parker after the two men, friends for years, demanded she choose between them, was held in another cell as a material witness. She is not blind.

B. A. Wallman, captain of inspectors, said the murder charge would be filed immediately against Licon, an inmate of a home for the blind. The sightless man, police said, expressed remorse and asserted he fought with his blind friend "in a fit of anger."

Grant Hudson Named

Allied Forces Head

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(UP)—Grant M. Hudson, of Lansing, Mich., was elected chairman of the allied forces today to succeed Dr. Daniel A. Poling, resigned. Dr. Poling, who declined to reconsider his resignation submitted at the November meeting, will serve as a member of the executive and administrative committees.

Censorship Curbs

Cuba's English Press

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The government invoked an even closer surveillance of the Havana press this afternoon.

For the first time since the 1931 revolt, English language newspapers were required to submit copies to military censors before the press run could be made.

HIGH COURT WEIGHS

SELLING AGENCY PLEA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(UP)—The fight of competing industrial units for permission to establish joint selling agencies under the law reached the supreme court today through the medium of an appeal by Appalachian Coals, Inc.

So important is the case rated by the court that double the usual time today to succeed Dr. Daniel A. Poling, resigned. The public is invited. Following the business session a reception will be held.

ACCUSED PROFESSOR FIGHTS FRAUD ACTION

Normano Has Overstayed
Visitation in U. S., Court
Is Told.

BOSTON, Jan. 9.—(UP)—A hearing today before U. S. Commissioner Edwin C. Jenney brought forth the allegation that Dr. Jose Frederico Normano, director of the Harvard University bureau of economic research in Latin America, was in this country illegally.

Dr. Normano was arrested last week upon representation of the German government that in reality he was Isaac Lewin, former Berlin banker who allegedly participated with an accomplice in a swindle involving $750,000. He denied knowledge of the affair.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Haven Parker presented a letter at the hearing on the question of bail for Dr. Normano's release, in which Assistant Secretary of State Castle said the defendant's one-year visitation period expired in April, 1932, and that it had been believed he and his wife, Berta, had left the United States. He said an extension of time had been denied them.

Despite the demand by Judge A. K. Cohen, defense counsel, that Dr. Normano be released in bail to permit him an opportunity to prepare his case regarding identification, Commissioner Jenney remanded him to jail without setting a date for hearing. Jenney intimated, however, that the matter of identification would be taken up again Friday and that he would not be averse to considering $25,000 bail.

The value of a Brazilian birth certificate offered by Dr. Normano at the time of his arraignment was attacked by Parker today. He told Commissioner Jenney that it did not "mean anything."

A record which Parker said was from the office of the civil registry of births and deaths of the first zone of the municipality of Porto Alegre, Brazil, was introduced. This showed that by proxy, Dr. Normano recorded his birth there on October 18, 1929, as having occurred September 5, 1890. Dr. Normano said, according to the record, that his grandparents were unknown to him but that his parents were Frederico and Maria Normano. The German government alleged that Lewin was a citizen of Nicaragua, although born in Russia.

Veterans to Meet.

Impersonator Irks Arch-Impersonator

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(UP)—"Prince Mike" is incensed. Somebody is impersonating him. Harry F. Gerguson, former pants presser who has got himself great gobs of publicity by posing as "Prince Michael Romanoff," learns with indignation that an imposter passed himself off as "Prince Michael" at a Broadway party.

"Of course, I'm flattered a bit," said his inimitable mibs, "but I resent the imposition."

Russell's Credentials Presented to Curtis

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The credentials of Senator-elect Richard B. Russell Jr., of Georgia, were presented to Vice President Curtis today by the senior senator from the state, Walter F. George.

The credentials were signed by Mr. Russell himself, as governor of Georgia, and also by Secretary of State Wilson. The signing of credentials by a senator-elect while serving as governor is not unusual, however, as many members of the upper chamber have come to congress while they were the executive head of their state government.

Washington expects Mr. Russell to take his seat in the senate next Wednesday and it was learned that he probably would be assigned the suite of rooms in the senate office building now occupied by his predecessor, Senator John S. Cohen, of Atlanta, and also be given Senator Cohen's assignments to the committees on appropriations, immigration, manufacturers and naval affairs until March 4, when new assignments will be arranged for him by the majority leader.

Traveling by truck, they will stop first at Sioux City tomorrow, leaders said, to participate in a protest against a foreclosure sale there. Sioux City authorities said they expected no demonstration, however.

Approximately 700 farmers gathered here and succeeded in preventing the scheduled sale of the A. H. Cleaver farm near Modale. Judge Ernest Miller postponed hearing the application for receivership made by William King until Friday when the latter failed to appear. The demonstration was orderly.

WOMAN IS INDICTED

IN HUSBAND'S DEATH

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Jan. 9.—(AP)—The Alachua county grand jury today returned an indictment for murder in the first degree against Mrs. May Crews, 35, who shot and killed her husband, W. A. Crews, at their home near here Saturday night.

Mrs. Crews has admitted the shooting, but said she was trying to "scare" her husband and did not intend for the bullet to strike him. She said he was forcing his attentions on Mrs. J. L. Croft, a friend who resided at the Crews home.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—(UP)—Duncan Renaldo, motion picture actor, was sentenced today to serve two years in federal prison and was fined $2,000 on conviction of falsifying a passport, falsely claiming American citizenship and perjury.

The charges were the outgrowth of statements made by Renaldo in applying for a passport to Africa, where he took a leading role with Edwina Booth in "Trader Horn."

Farmers Will Seek Legislative Action to Halt Forced Sales.

LOGAN, Iowa, Jan. 9.—(UP)—The farmers' fight against sheriff's sales spread to other communities in Iowa and Wisconsin today.

Meanwhile, members of the Farmers' Defense Council at Le Mars, Iowa—scene of last week's disorder in which farmers halted a foreclosure sale with threats to an insurance company attorney and a district judge—were organizing an expedition to Des Moines to exert their influence on the state legislature which convened today.

About 100 declared intention of making the trip with the avowed purpose of urging legislation which would deprive courts of jurisdiction for a period of several months in cases involving money judgments.

PRINCESS REPORTED EXPULSED BY FRANCE

PARIS, Jan. 9.—(UP)—The newspaper Quotidien published today an unconfirmed rumor that the Hungarian Princess Stephanie, of Hohenlohe-Waldenburg-Schillingsfurt, has been expelled from France for mixing in international affairs.

The newspaper said rumors from Biarritz declared she was an intimate friend of Lord Rothermere, the British publisher, and that she had been promised money if she succeeded in obtaining publication of anti-Polish articles in Lord Rother

Reports of Staff Feature Annual Meeting of Child Welfare Group

The Child Welfare Association of Fulton and DeKalb Counties was called to order for its annual meeting on January 5 by its retiring president, Mrs. W. A. Albright. Reports for the year were given by chairmen on the board of directors covering case work, health, education, supplies, volunteer service, finance, publicity. Appreciation to individuals and concerns who had assisted in the various fields of endeavor was expressed by the directors, and the three papers of Atlanta, The Constitution, Journal and Georgian, were paid tributes for the estimable help that had been given in educating the public in the value of child-placing and all phases of child welfare.

Newspapers Praised.
The kind offices of these papers have made known to the public the ideas of the association in its concern for the saving of little children. The papers have shown how the association is endeavoring to make of deserted, abandoned, neglected and orphaned children a group worthy to serve society, rather than be served by that society.

Mrs. Albright introduced Miss Mary Newell, executive secretary, with words of commendation and appreciation for the excellent work of her staff, and Miss Newell in turn introduced each of her workers who gave a different aspect of the child placing to the meeting. Miss Helen Pugh made an interesting report of her work especially at Hillside Cottages, for which she is the case worker. There were 31 children dismissed from the home, all of whom had been placed in suitable board homes and an equal number of other children placed in that remarkable institution. Miss Pugh told of the increased difficulty of finding free foster homes for children since the effects of the depression, with its economic moral and mental toll, had necessarily decreased the number of people who could care for the children.

A graphic description of adoption proceedings was given by Miss Alphonse Eckert, the adoption expert on the staff. Miss Eckert went into the interesting details of the investigation she had to make on both sides of the families and told of the trial period of six months to establish the happy relationship of the child with its new parents. There were 13 children adopted during the last year.

Miss Loretta Chappelear gave a recital of one day in the life of a child.

Whiteford Garden Club Hears Reports

The Whiteford Garden Club met with Mrs. Edwin Saye, 335 Elmira place, Thursday.

The president, Mrs. H. R. Strickland, called for the yearly reports. These revealed increased activity and full co-operation of the membership. The group plan of study proved highly successful and will be followed again this year. A spring and a fall flower show was held and the club participated in the shows held by Fifth District Federation, garden division. The Whiteford club was received as a member of the garden clubs of Georgia.

Mrs. C. L. Smith, retiring president, thanked her officers for the club for the co-operation given her. Other officers, including Mrs. Owen Phillips, vice president; Mrs. B. D. Finch, secretary; Mrs. S. P. Walters, treasurer; Mrs. H. D. Saye, auditor, and Mrs. L. S. Kelley, corresponding secretary, gave favorable reports.

During the year the club has had the privilege of hearing some exceptionally fine speakers. Mrs. Meyer Lovelace spoke on the "Small Garden," Mrs. James R. Barkman on "Iris," Mrs. Walter Lamb on "Roses" welfare worker—how dictation on cases was interrupted early in the morning by call from neighbors saying a child was mistreated; how, establishing the direction, she gathered up coats and data so that she might investigate the needs of other wards in that community; how the reports were negated, the truth of the situation established; how John got his new coat; how Bessie had been getting bad marks at school and demoted much to the chagrin of her boarding mother; how the teacher and principal were interviewed; the child appealed for; how many threads were run down in the Community Chest offices to discover the status of various children; how useful was the Social Service Index in establishing necessary facts—and, after the tale, the audience was as breathless as the worker must have been at the end of her day.

Miss Newell, having given her staff the human interest end, made her report of the actual figures of the year. 601 children having come under the observation and work of the staff during the year. Some cases were closed; some children put back with their own families, many still under close supervision; others with relatives, requiring supervision; some in institutions; some off at school, some referred to other agencies; 65 in free foster homes during the year; 174 in boarding homes.

Sense of Responsibility.
Mrs. Albright spoke of her high sense of responsibility of the board and urged them to greater heights and introduced the new president, Dr. Robert W. Barnes, who accepted the call in the same fine spirit which had prompted Mrs. Albright. Those taking office were president, Dr. Robert W. Barnes; vice president, Mrs. Dan B. Harris; treasurer, Mrs. Lewis E. Crook Jr.; recording secretary, Mrs. Wallace Rogers; corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. C. Black; directors, which include chairmen named by Dr. Barnes are: Mrs. W. A. Albright, Mrs. Wiley Ballard, Mrs. Edgar Craighard, Charles Curtis, Walter Dillon, Mrs. Walter Dupre, Mrs. E. H. Ginn, Mrs. C. E. Harrison, Mrs. Frank Harwell, J. P. Jones, Mrs. George McCarty, Mrs. Floyd McRae Jr., Mrs. Frank Neely, Mrs. Paul Potter, Mrs. F. M. Robinson, Dr. Lavens Thomas III, Mrs. Eugene C. Wachendorf, Judge Garland Watkins, Mrs. Harold West, Judge J. W. Weekes, Mrs. Comer Woodward, Mrs. T. Guy Woolford.

JUNIOR LEAGUE JOTTINGS

By MRS. HENRY W. GRADY JR.

Last week the 20 new members of the Junior League attended the first of a series of talks and field trips arranged for them by Mrs. Wright Bryan, our second vice president and a member of the Junior League.

Mrs. Wright Bryan, second vice president of the Junior League.

The Junior League has been giving this course for its provisional members of a number of years, but each year new lectures are being added. In November, when Miss Lettie Witherspoon, A. J. L. A. field welfare secretary, visited our League, Mrs. Bryan had an appointment with her and discovered that the majority of leagues all over the country are beginning to think the 12 lectures are barely sufficient in which to discuss the social, civic, economic, educational and cultural conditions of the community.

The 1933 provisional course had its first meeting last Friday morning at the Piedmont Driving Club, where Mrs. Bryan informally lectured to those attending, and afterwards introduced the speakers of the day, all of whom were Junior League presidents. Mrs. Edwin Peoples told of the origin of the Atlanta League in 1916 and traced its progress, giving a brief synopsis of the activities during each year since that time.

Mrs. Allison Thornwell then took up the story, outlining the present function of the League and explaining the work of each Junior League committee and of each board member. She spoke of what has already been accomplished during her term as president and what is being planned to complete a well-rounded year.

Mrs. Thornwell was closely followed by Miss Margaret Nelson, the Miss Nelson was very well informed on her subject, "The Association of Junior Leagues of America," and told most interestingly of its history, purpose and ideals, bringing to her audience a realization of the value of affiliation with the national association for each League and for each individual member.

The next lecture in the series takes place this morning at 11 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving Club, when Dr. Anby Jones will come before the group and has chosen as his subject, "Where Do You Live?" Also on Friday morning, January 13, at the same hour and at the same place, Mrs. Rhoda Kaufman, head of the Family Welfare Society, will speak on "The Field of Social Service Work."

Although the course has been especially planned for the provisional members, all other members, as well as the general public, are invited to attend either the continuing or a particular lecture in which they are interested.

At the January meeting of the Junior League, held last Tuesday at Brookhaven Country Club, several important matters were decided upon. Mrs. Edward Van Winkle Jr., our first vice president, was elected to represent the Atlanta League at the children's theater conference in Cleveland, Ohio, on January 21, February 1, 2 and 3. Mrs. Van Winkle will be remembered for her outstanding performance in our children's play, "The Goose Goose," which took place in November.

It was also determined that the Junior League stage a mammoth bridge tournament, just as we did so successfully last year. Many handsome prizes will be given and congenial sections formed where players of the same experience may be grouped together. It is hoped that we will have an even more enthusiastic crowd than was present last year. An announcement of cultural interest came from the arts and interests committee, of which Miss Margaret Nelson is chairman. Beginning Tuesday, January 24, at 3 o'clock, at the Piedmont Driving Club, and continuing for six consecutive Tuesday afternoons, this committee will present Hugh Hodgson, well-known Atlanta pianist and organist. Mr. Hodgson will give lecture recitals on various famous composers, beginning with the classics and coming up to modern composers.

Tickets will be $2.50 for the series, or 50 cents for an individual lecture, and may be procured from Miss Nelson, Hemlock 1896; Mrs. Joseph Cooper, Cherokee 1915, or any member of the arts and interests committee. The public is urged to attend, as Mr. Hodgson offers an unusual opportunity for instruction to the music lovers of Atlanta.

Miss Bradley To Speak.
Miss Blanch Bradley, of Pingto, China, will address members of the Business and Professional Woman's Circle of the First Baptist church at the meeting Wednesday evening, January 11. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock.

Y. W. C. A. Plans New Year Of Service To Meet Demands

As the Y. W. C. A. enters a new year of service, each department plans with renewed vigor to meet the increasing demands brought about by unstable economic conditions and to create for women and girls a refreshed outlook on life through knowledge, congenial friendship and sympathetic understanding.

The health education department swings back into routine after the holiday season, with the swimming pool thoroughly cleaned and renovated and affording excellent opportunity for invigorating mid-winter swims. Miss Frances Keller, physical director, is planning a new schedule of gymnasium and dancing lessons to begin February 1, and any one interested in securing special reducing or corrective exercises should communicate with her at Walnut 8961. The regular classes in gym, t. and children's dancing will continue and at the beginning of 1933.

Contract Bridge.
In striving to fulfill the expressed desires of business girls, the Y. W. C. A. now offers contract bridge lessons at the noon hour. C. E. Drummond, instructor, requests anyone interested to meet him at the Y. Wednesday, from 12 to 2 o'clock, for discussion of the most convenient time. Mr. Drummond has completed a series of bridge-lectures given for the mothers who bring their children to dancing classes on Thursday afternoon and will be glad to form a new class for business girls.

With over 80 girls present last week at the first 1933 meeting of the Y. Southern Bell Club, plans were formulated for new interest groups which reflect the desires of the membership. With these interesting new classes, the goal for 100 members should be attained easily. In order to "keep current" with the many complex world events, this club has selected Mrs. Richard Battle, keen interpreter of contemporary happenings, to lead a class in "Keeping Up with the World." William B. Griffith, noted musician and head of the Griffith School of Music, will conduct a mandolin club, with over 20 girls already taking part. Mrs. C. E. Drummond will continue swimming classes and a new series of contract bridge lectures will be given by Alonzo Johnson, whose classes during the fall were highly popular.

For those interested in sports Miss Eugenia Dozier, of the Atlanta Conservatory of Music, will introduce a unique feature. The Southern Bell basketball team, one of the strongest and peopliest in the Y. league, is being organized by Miss Peggy Launius, and will attract a number of enthusiastic players as well as loyal rooters from the side-lines.

Following the policy of the business girls' department to "Know Your Y. W. C. A.," the Southern Bell group will hear Mrs. Mary Kate Duskin, member of the business girls' committee, discuss "What Is the Y. W. C. A.?" Tuesday evening, Mrs. Duskin, a former Y. W. C. A. secretary, is well-informed on Y. W. C. A. policies and beliefs and will bring a thought-provoking message.

Mrs. J. N. McEachern, chairman of Y. public affairs committee, will conduct a marathon discussion on the "Cause and Cure of War Conference" at the Business Girls' League Thursday evening, January 12. Similar groups are being held in other states and a delegate from Atlanta will be selected to attend the state conference and from there to go to the national conference. Y. business girls are keenly interested in national affairs and have studied war debts, disarmament and peace negotiations with particular interest.

Mrs. Mildred Seydell, feature writer and traveler, talked to the Rainbow Club members Monday, describing some of her interviews with Hollywood celebrities.

The Y. residences, 82 Baker street, N. W., is welcoming a number of girls returning from holidays spent at their homes. Last week a number of delegates from southern colleges who were in Atlanta attending the Y. M. Y. W. C. A. student conference were entertained at the residence. The girls are pleased to learn that Rev. Stroud, of the Columbia Theological Seminary, will continue to conduct vespers services each Monday evening.

New Interest Groups.
Girl reserves are organizing new interest groups, planning recognition for new members and enjoying dancing and swimming at the Y. W. C. A. On Monday, Commercial High Girl Reserves learned new dance steps and organized a discussion forum on vocational guidance. All high school seniors are giving serious consideration to economic problems and the Y. W. C. A. is eager to offer counsel about opportunities available to the young graduate.

Miss Anne Fridmore was guest of the Joe Brown Girl Reserves Monday, and interpreted the Girl Reserve code and how it furnishes inspiration and help in every day living. Miss Connie May Ragdale, president, arranged the program, assisted by Miss Mary Snow Johnston, advisor.

Miss Fly Weds

Lee M. Harrison.

SUMMIT, Miss., Jan. 9.—The marriage of Miss Mildred Carleton Fly to Lee Moncrief Harrison was solemnized at high noon Saturday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Fly, the Rev. C. W. Wesley, of the M. E. church, south, officiating.

Mrs. Richard Savage, of Brookhaven, rendered a program of nuptial music, with the wedding march from "Lohengrin" as the processional. The party came down the stairs, led by the junior bridesmaid, Miss Marge-Jane Fly, niece of the bride, who wore a cream-colored gown and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of yellow roses and blue sweet peas.

The bride was attired in a becoming traveling ensemble of rust colored wool trimmed with wide bands of mole fur; her hat and other accessories were brown and she carried a bouquet of Tullisman roses and lilies of the valley. She was joined at the foot of the stairs by her father and they were met by the bridegroom and his father, W. R. Harrison, of Vicksburg.

An informal reception was held and a wedding breakfast served. Mrs. Fly, mother of the bride, was assisted in receiving by Mrs. G. I. Jones, Mrs. James M. Fly, Mrs. P. R. Reid and Mrs. S. R. Waring. Misses Mary Evelyn and Annette Reid and Mary Gray assisted in the dining room. The bride is a graduate of Newcomb College, New Orleans, La., where she was a member of Phi Mu sorority. Her maternal grandfather was William Merritt Jenkins, a native of Georgia, but a Mississippian by adoption. Through her paternal grandmother she is descended from the Watson and Anthony families of Virginia.

Mr. Harrison is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harrison, of Bluffton, Ga. He received his A. B. and M. A. degrees at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., where he was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity and Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison will be at home after January 15, at 3190 Cliff road, Birmingham, Ala.

Miss Blanch King

Weds R. D. Buchan.

TENNILLE, Ga., Jan. 9.—Mr. and Mrs. H. M. King announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Blanch King, to R. D. Buchan, of Hawkinsville. The marriage, which was a quiet affair, took place Saturday morning in Hawkinsville with Judge H. A. Hawkins officiating.

The bride, who is a sister of Mrs. Edgar Hartley, of Tennille, is a member of a prominent family in the Harrison community, and is a young woman of unusual gifts and personality. After her graduation at G. S. T. C., Athens, she began teaching and has held positions in several Georgia schools. At the time of her marriage she was a member of the Montezuma school faculty.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Buchan, of Hawkinsville, and a brother of Miss Lizzie Buchan, home economics director of Washington county, is well known in the business and social life of his home city, where members of his family are among the outstanding residents. He is at present engaged in the cotton business in Hawkinsville.

Miss Bartholomew

Gives Program Today.

Miss Eda Bartholomew, one of the south's most distinguished organists, will present an all-Bach program this evening at 8 o'clock at St. Mark's Methodist church, corner Fifth and Peachtree, one of the season's concerts of the Georgia Chapter of the American Guild of Organists, of which Dr. Charles Sheldon Jr. is dean. The public is invited to attend.

Assisting Miss Bartholomew will be a double quartet, Mrs. James Richardson and Miss Frances Woodberry, sopranos; Mrs. Mabel Daniel and Mrs. John Turner, contraltos; James Richardson and T. Stanley Perry, tenors; John Hoffman and Ray Werner, basses. Mrs. LeRoy Loewer, cellist, will also appear on the program.

For Miss Lucas.

Miss Jean Lucas, lovely debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lucas, was honor guest at the tea at which Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Hammond Bailey were hosts Sunday at their home in Griffin.

The tea table held in the center a graceful silver bowl filled with Claudia Pernet roses and white narcissi encircled by silver candlesticks holding unshaded yellow tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie Sadler and Miss Ida Sadler assisted in entertaining.

Coat Sales!!!

---And Who Has the Bargains?

The zero hour has struck. Coat prices are at their low. Those who have deprived themselves of coats this long feel they should find excellent values at the lowest cost. But even this late—in a season of low prices—prices alone are not bargains. If you want and expect long wear and satisfactory service, look at the Coat you are buying, look at the furs, the materials, the quality of tailoring and not at the price tag only. When you find a Coat that meets all the requirements of quality—at the right price—that Coat is a bargain. That is the kind of coat you want—the kind of coat you'll find at Leon's.

Someone to Love

INSTALLMENT III.

"Well, I don't feel that way now. I believe I will take a snooze. Thank you ever so much."

Dr. Varick closed the door and went downstairs. The boy looked worried, harassed. But he had troubles enough of his own without disturbing himself over these rich youngsters, who had everything to make them happy, yet succeeded in being as unhappy as paupers. He was glad he had brought June up differently. Still, found himself thinking of the boy upstairs several times during the day.

June was also thinking of him. If anyone was mean, it was she. June fell asleep with the memory of that look of his clutched tight in her mind, as if it were a treasure she must anchor fast.

When June awoke a girl sat beside her bed, a golden brown girl with adoring brown eyes fastened on her.

"Jane," she said, sleepily, and yawned herself into a happy welcome. "I'm so glad you came. Why didn't you wake me?"

"I did my best. I sure am sorry you got hurt, June, and so is everybody else—all the crowd sent you love and kisses. They want to come and see you, but the doctor won't permit it now."

"Jane, I can't go to Columbia—did you know that? And I don't want to when I can."

"That's tough. But you can go for the mid-year term. And you know we always have a pretty swell time until after the holidays, anyway."

"Is that your girl friend, June?" came a voice from the other bed.

"Yes, I didn't know you were awake. It's Jane Palmer—Miss Bishop, Jane."

"Come here, Jane—I've a favor to ask of you, so please make up your mind to do it before I tell you—if you will, I'll send you the newest variety out when I get back to New York."

"You don't have to bribe me," Jane reassured her. "What is it?"

"Send a telegram for me, and don't tell a soul."

"That's easy. To your sweetie, of course."

"Certo."

It was nearly dusk when Bruce came in. He had gone to see about having his car repaired, after a long sleep. He looked angry. June saw at once. He went immediately to Kay's bedside, and warded a slip of paper before her.

"What does this mean?" he demanded. I found it in the car! Did you stay in a hotel in Salem Friday night? I thought you didn't leave St. Louis until Saturday morning? But this bill—no, you couldn't have gotten it if you hadn't been there. Wasn't it?"

"Don't be obnoxious, Bruce. I stayed there, of course. I was mad at you and ran away just to worry you. But I was sorry and was on my way back when this accident occurred."

His face relaxed its tenseness, and he sat down unsteadily. "Forgive me. I'm all stirred up, I guess. I worried like fury about you, when you disappeared. Don't ever do that again."

"I won't," she agreed, and watched him as his eyes traveled across the wide room to observe June. Her red, gold braids lay across her blue satin bed jacket, and her gaze was far away, fastened on the hills receding into a purple dusk.

Two weary days passed, lightened by Bruce's anxious attention. He wired St. Louis for flowers, bathhouse and candy. The local book store was ravaged of the best books and magazines. He read aloud to them from the New Yorker, the Forum and "Shadows on the Rock." Of the latter, Kay would have none, demanding that he stop. June wished he would continue. His voice was resonant, beautiful. He made the little French girl, Cecile, live. But Kay was excited and restless. Nothing pleased her, and she smoked so many cigarettes that the room was blue with smoke. June wished that she might be moved onto the sleeping porch.

It was 2 a. m. June could see by the luminous dial of the bedside clock when she awoke to the sound of whispering voices. The room was in soft darkness, but gradually the shadowy form of a man took shape as he leaned over Kay's bed. June's first impulse was to scream. Then, realizing the source of the whispering, she continued her work, especially when the "darling" came to her distinctly, in a husky, masculine voice.

June lay still. It must be the man to whom Kay had gotten Jane Palmer to send the telegrams. She must not let them know she was awake. Kay must never suspect her secret was shared. Now her voice rose, incautious with emotion.

"I was so afraid you might not make it! I nearly died with impatience, all day! I'm going to St. Louis the moment I can get away, and you can come to see me there. Darling, tell me you love me!"

"Dear little girl! More than my very life . . . you know!"

"But you failed me! Oh, why didn't you come to Salem that night? I wouldn't be hurt now, if you had . . ."

"Sweetheart, I told you my plane was in trouble—I had a forced landing. Then I couldn't reach you in St. Louis, not in Salem, so I went back to New York, frantic until I got your message!"

June, lying so still, every nerve tense with the effort not to make a sound, screamed when the room was suddenly flooded with light, and her father, in his dressing gown, and a valet in his hand, stood in the doorway.

"Hands up!" he commanded.

June's frightened eyes raced to the man beside Kay. He was a swarthy, foreign-looking type, with a small mustache, bright black eyes, and gleaming white teeth, disclosed by the nonchalant smile which accompanied his gesture of uplifted arms.

"I beg your pardon, sir," he said, "for the very unceremonious hour and manner in which I choose to visit your residence."

It was Kay's turn to scream then, for Bruce suddenly catapulted himself into the room. "You cad!" he cried, and with agile fierceness leaped upon the other man.

Dr. Varick was not of an age or physique to interfere actively in a physical encounter between two young men. The unusual noises had aroused the household. Miss Martin stood agast in the doorway, nervously trying to adjust her cap. Black Chloe, her eyes rolling in terror, gaped from a safe position in the hall. It seemed longer, but it was actually only a few seconds until the doctor's voice was heard distinctly above the scuffling of the combatants.

"Stop instantly, or I'll shoot!" he commanded.

Reluctantly, the two young men ceased pummeling each other and fell apart. Each got to his feet, a little dazed, very disheveled.

Dr. Varick addressed the stranger. "I don't know who you are, but suppose you get out. If you've got anything to say, come around tomorrow and do it in the open."

"I am Ramon Lovino, sir," he said, "and I offer my most humble apologies."

He turned to Kay. "I will stay at the hotel, my beloved, and tomorrow I will communicate with you."

"You'll do nothing of the kind!" Bruce sprang forward.

"What will do, Mr. Bishop," said the doctor. "Come down to my study and we'll talk this over."

Bruce smoothed his ruffled hair with his hands, and tied the cord of his dressing gown. With hands thrust into his pockets, and his face dark with defiance and anger, he took the chair Dr. Varick indicated.

The doctor shoved a box of cigarettes towards him. "Smoke?" he asked, and proceeded to light his pipe.

Bruce took a cigarette, regarding the older man with miserable, baffled eyes. "What's this all about, Dr. Varick?" he asked, "especially on June's account?"

"This man is interested in your sister, I assume?"

"Yes, sir. I'd like to tell you the whole thing, if you'll be good enough to listen. Perhaps you can advise me."

"Go ahead. It will do you good."

"Kay met him in France, nearly two years ago. Not long with her, and disapproved from the start. But my sister has always been headstrong and motherly, and I investigated the matter. I looked him up in Italy, but his so-called castle is closed, and practically in ruins, even if it does belong to him. The natives were noncommittal—the count was traveling abroad. But he was persistent in her attachment for the man that when my mother died a year ago, she left a will, appointing me Kay's guardian. If a married woman out of my consent, before she is 25, her share of the estate goes to the Passavant Foundation."

"Apparently, they are still in love, after two years; I'd say the attachment savored of permanency."

"He is after her money. She has doubtless told him, if they keep on that she will get me to relent. As for her, when you oppose her in anything, she is determined to have it. The love side of it will die out, if I can keep them apart—love always does, if you give it a chance."

"You don't believe in love?"

"Oh, certainly there is an emotion that goes by that name. But it never lasts. At least I've never known of a case where it did. All my friends who have married are either divorced or want to be."

"Were your mother and father divorced?"

"No, sir, but imagine it was because they were old-fashioned in their ideas. I never gave it much thought."

Tone of the Markets.

NEW YORK. CHICAGO.

STOCKS: Irregular. WEAK. BOND: Firm. COM: Strong.

COTTON: Quiet. FUTURE: Strong.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Wall

Street found compensation for the different stock market in the continued strength of bonds today. Shares had little life, but Jones again pushed up hopefully. While dipped.

Stocks tried a rally or two, though trails did most of the advancing. Sluggishness in the market elsewhere tended to dampen enthusiasm. By the close prices were largely lower from a fraction to about a point. Sales to totalled 531,200 shares.

Several carrier stocks were a point or more higher at one time. Pennsylvania, with a record of earnings on the stock in 1932, was a favorite while its group was making progress

but its advance was finally halted.

Both American Telephone and United States Steel were down just over a point. The former may have been exhibiting preliminary nervousness over next month's dividend meeting, while Steel faces an unfilled tonnage statement tomorrow showing a decision on the preferred dividend late this month.

Declines of approximately the same were returned by American Can,

Case, and Western Union. While

Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, Anaconda,

American Tobacco "B" and Bethlehem yielded minor or major fractions.

There was a flurry of firmness in the "wet" shares coincident with the senate committee's prohibition repeal vote, but this effectiveness was not particularly striking and the group turned very dull.

Rail stocks appeared interested in the announcement that the national transportation committee would speed its report and that the document would be more comprehensive than had originally been intended. Some brokers have attributed recent activity in carrier stocks to the effort of a trading group which supported those issues last fall.

Freight loadings for the week ended

December 31, 1932, revealed a decline of 57,801 cars from the previous week, which included Christmas. Total volume of business was 10 per cent under a year ago, a period that embraced the New Year's holiday. Of more interest was Santa

Fe's figures for the week ended January 7, which showed a rise of 2,600 cars over the immediately preceding week.

General Motors' December sales reported reflected in part the seasonal pickup incident to the New Year's holiday, but the company's production of 44,101 cars against 24,015 in November and 68,650 in December, 1931,

October and November, 1932, was at a very low level for the company at this time of the year. Cars sold to consumers last month numbered

10,992 against 12,780 in November.

Foreign Markets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

LONDON.—Trading on the stock exchange was quiet but cheerful. Investment issues and industrial shares steadily while Agricultural shares were more active. The market recovered early losses and the market closed higher.

PARIS.—Prices on the bourse declined, particularly French shares partly as a result of liquidation of the government over the government's budgetary measure.

The market was heavy.

BERLIN.—Trading was cheerful on the bourse and prices were slightly higher. The closing was firm.

By VICTOR EUBANK.
NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Led by the rails and industrials, the bond market advanced on all fronts today and lower prices retreated under a barrage of growing bids.

While there was no striking news development, the urge of low money rates and the investment funds for large institutional funds apparently motivated the continuation of the recovery.

Trading volume was considerably above normal, sales totaling 600,000 par value. The Associated Press domestic statistics average for 60 domestic corporate bonds advanced eight-tenths of a point.

Gains of 1 to 4 or more points were recorded by a long list of carrier and industrial specialties. The best of the rally included Hene of Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, M. & T. M. Southern, Pennsylvania, St. Louis, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific and Southern.

Industrial group was the star in the advance, with the steel group leading. G. I. points following the advance in the steel group, the active advance in the steel group.

Foreign bonds were steady to firm on a turnover of 230,000 par value. The Germans came back to establish new highs after early irregularity. Improvement was shown by British loans, and the Japanese and Argentinean were irregular.
